

Welcome to the Neil Thompson Academy

People | Problems | Potential

Members of the Academy are helped to adapt the RSCM approach.

The Academy also offers an 'open cycle' for members of all kinds, giving members the opportunity to work with Neil as part of a supportive community to achieve the best results in terms of learning and quality of practice.

If you are an experienced manager, we can offer you assessment for Chartered Manager status and Fellowship of the Institute - the highest professional qualification it is possible to attain

Our study systems include a major focus on the challenges of leadership in social work, and social care, avoiding the pitfalls of 'generic' training.

Boost your career with a qualification in management and leadership. Our fully flexible, fully online qualifications focus on people management, engagement and wellbeing.

Our approach: where there are People, there will be Problems, but there will also be Potential

Providers of online learning and Chartered Management Institute qualifications

We help to tackle the problems and fulfil the potential

People | Problems | Potential

The Academy represents Neil's legacy as one of the most successful authors and educators of his generation

The background is a dark blue field with a network of thin, light blue lines connecting various points. These points are represented by circles of different sizes and colors, including light blue, yellow, orange, and white. The overall effect is a sense of interconnectedness and dynamic movement.

We help to tackle the problems and fulfil the potential

learning today - leading tomorrow

Boost your career with a qualification in management and leadership. Our fully flexible, fully online qualifications focus on people management, engagement and wellbeing.

Our study options include a major focus on the distinctive challenges of leadership in social work and social care - avoiding the pitfalls of 'generic' training.

If you are an experienced manager, we can offer you assessment for Chartered Manager status and Fellowship of the Institute - the highest professional qualification it is possible to attain

The Academy also offers an online 'inner circle' for leaders of all kinds, giving members the opportunity to work with Neil as part of a supportive community to achieve the best results in terms of learning and quality of practice.

Members of the Centre are helped to adopt the FRESH approach:

The FRESH Approach

F

Fully committed to achieving the best results

R

Reflective practice oriented ready to think, plan, learn and develop

E

Equality, diversity and inclusion minded committed to fairness and dignity for all

S

Self-development focused

taking the lead on boosting your learning

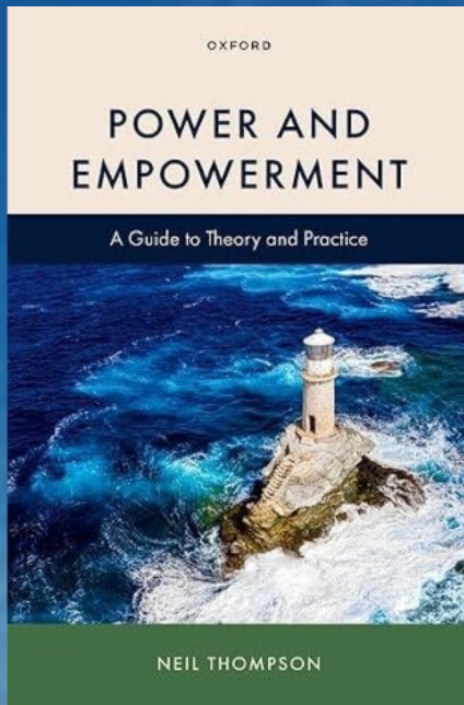

H

Healthy body and healthy mind aware

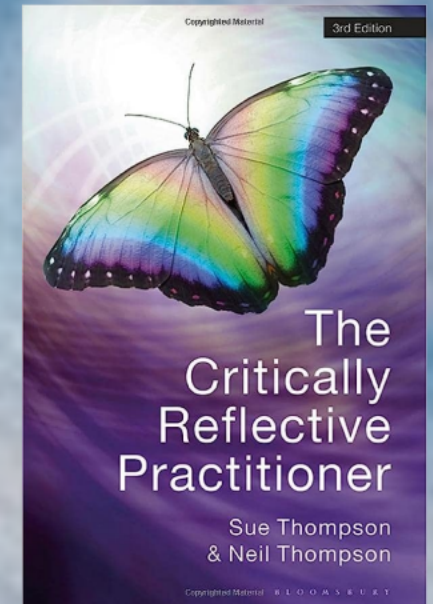

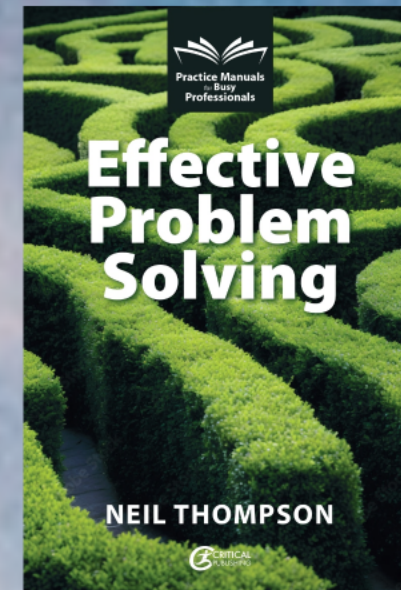

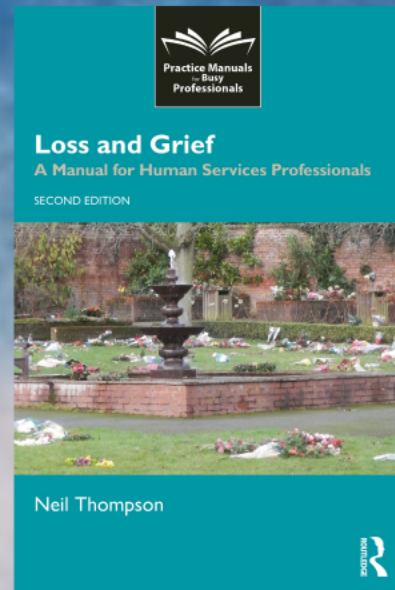

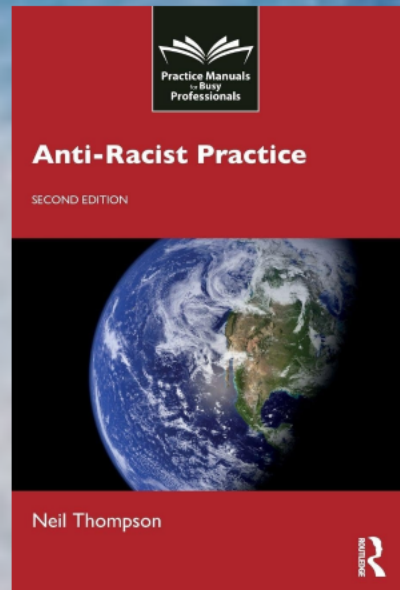

taking your health and well-being seriously

Members of the Centre of Excellence gain access to a range of development tools that are also available for purchase by non-members. These tools can play a part in ensuring best practices in management.

In addition to this wide range of learning opportunities and resources, Neil continues to produce books that have a real impact.
